THE PUBLIC MONEY-THE NATIONAL DEBT. The New York Times, which is not over scrupulous, is nevertheless perfectly capable of being scared, and it is beginning now to express po little alarm at the rapidity with which the national debt is being augmented. It says: The Bounty Bill of 1866 added about eighty millions. Another is under way which will add from two to four hundred millions more. Mr. Schenck says this bill will do "to begin with," and Gen Banks pledges himself to vote for whatever sum the soldiers wanthe does not care whether it is four or eight hundred millions of dollars. Mr. Williams, of Pennsylvania, has presented another, and Mr. Perham, of Maine, still another bill of the same sort. In addition to these bills there is another to pay out of the national treasury all debts incurred by States and counties in raising troops. It is "pretty certain," the Times tells us, to become a law and to add five hundred millions to the national debt.

Then come the claims of "loyal men" compensation for losses during the war, of which the Times remarks: "We have very good leason to believe that the amount of such of SUFFERINGS AT THE SOUTH. - A private letter in the New York Times from a violent Radical army officer-a Northern man-gives, if possible, a worse picture of suffering than any we have had. But, he thinks it right to stop persecution somewhere, and, therefore, after an abundance of personal reflections upon the stupidity and acrimony of those around him, writes as follows, in words which make therein ordered, on the 4th day of April next, one's heart ache: - "The truth is that these people are so tortured with debt and poverty that they hardly mind anything which has not a direct relation to getting daily bread and necessary raiment. I do hope to God that we never shall approach the horrible crime and cruelty of confiscation or any similar measure of mere vengeance. Looking this desolated and pauperized community of widows and orphans in the face, I feel like imprecating curses on the head of any man who strives to add to their misery. The amendment is right; it punishes the very men who ought to be punished; it is simple and not unmerciful justice. I approve of Sherman's military bill because it enforces the amendment. But this whispering about confiscation seems to me like the whispering of murderers. A large portion of the said depositions be not commenced on that day, or if commenced pauperized community of widows and orphans fere with the planting of crops, there will be horrible misery; the South will be a Poland, an Ireland, an India, a hell to itself and a horhorrible misery; the South will be a Poland, an Ireland, an India, a hell to itself and a hor-

UNDER MARTIAL LAW. - We have all, it is to be hoped-State, City and County officials, newspaper conductors and private citizensbeen sufficiently educated by the experience of the past two years to understand and perform our obligations under the military rule inaugurated yesterday under the act of Congress as the Sherman-Shellabarger bill. There had been some doubt and uncertainty as to whether our present State, County and City officials would be allowed to continue in office, and whether our General Assembly would be allowed to legislate. That doubt was dispelled by General Order No. 1 of the District Commander published yesterday. That order an-nouges that such officials will remain in office until their "successors shall be duly elected and qualified in accordance with the abovenamed act of Congress." The words "unless otherwise hereinafter ordered in individual cases" suggest a reserved power of removal to
